

Pichler to Hanson

September 10 at 9:03pm ·

Hey there, Dave, as the Orioles are poised to be swept in Cleveland, perhaps you would be open to a little wager on locking in on those playoff tickets at Camden Yards. A beer, a Yuengling lager draft, says the Orioles fall short, well short and miss the 2017 post season. Let's see if I have the correct count of fingers and toes. What do you say there, Dave? I hate rooting against the team I follow, but what the hell. I love betting against the home team faithful. The Orioles have had the worst starting pitching staff since Mid June. Loser has to travel. I reside part time in Toronto, Ontario part time in Bethesda. Maryland. I have never lost a bet involving the Redskins, nor Washington Capitals. I always bet against over-rated, Russian pseudo Phenom, [...] Ovechkin. In Toronto, Ontario Ovechkin is known as the guy who orders a pizza on the back check.

Neal Siegel: Wow, you wait until 20 games left to offer that bet? That hardly makes you a great prognosticator - just a bully looking for a sucker bet

Like · Reply · September 11 at 10:02pm

Pichler: Is this [Neal Siegel] who slapped me in the face after [nudging] his car lecturing me about bullying?

Like

· Reply · September 12 at 4:58am